

Message at the closing ceremony of the first term

Good morning, everyone. Since Iseko is a Super Science High school, I would like to give a message to you in ENGLISH on this occasion of the closing ceremony of the first term.

First, I would like you to notice that science is not only for RIKEI students, but also for BUNKEI students.

Scientists study things by looking at them very carefully, by measuring them, and by doing experiments and tests.

Scientists try to explain why things act the way they do, and predict what will happen. Science is the WAY to study everything around us.

Traditionally, science is subdivided into the natural sciences, the social sciences, and the human sciences, which cover all the subject you learn at school. So everyone here is a Super Science High school student.

Now, I'll give you a quiz. There are a lot of slopes in the world. Then which is larger in number, upslopes or downslopes? The answer is; the same. Every upslope is downslopes at the same time, if we see it from the opposite side.

Next question; are you the only one who is worried and thinks nobody understands you? The answer is NO. If you think so, you may be the one at the same time who doesn't understand that someone else is worried. So there are the same number of people who are worried as the ones who think nobody understands them.

You are starting long summer vacation now. It is also time to think and worry about yourself and your future. Toward the end of summer vacation, you may grow uneasy. But never think that you are the only one who is uneasy. Everyone is uneasy and wants to help others as well as to be helped.

I hope to see you cheerfully come back to school at the opening ceremony on 28th of August. Here I declare pasturage for one month! That's all, thank you.
